New Photos Reveal Streep's Transformation

Meryl Streep was transformed into former British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher in The Iron Lady, which opened Dec. 16. On Jan. 24, two members of the film's make-up team—make-up artist/hairstylist J. Roy Helland and prosthetic designer Mark Coulier—were nominated for an Achievement in Makeup Oscar for their part in that transformation. Now, Helland and Coulier share behind-the-scenes photos of Streep in various stages of age make-up, plus photos of Jim Broadbent as Thatcher's husband, Denis, and Alexandra Roach as the young Thatcher.

For more on The Iron Lady, see the feature story in Make-Up Artist magazine's Issue 94. And be sure to check out www.makeupmag.com next week for exclusive video footage of the film's make-up team describing its work in greater depth. MA
